Police said there was no immediate threat to the public on the street. They don't know whether the shooting incident was part of a crime scene and are unable to identify anyone whose body they are searching.. Officers responded and took up positions on the street behind the building where witnesses said they saw the officer firing his weapon. One witness, a woman waiting on the sidewalk opposite the scene, said she heard one shot after someone said someone was shot. A neighbor said he heard two bursts before a second burst, which startled him outside with multiple people running down the sidewalk.. "It sounded like someone got shot and then the second round went off," the neighbor said. A friend of the woman he was watching said she heard the second round go off "on his leg" and came outside with her husband and told them their car had been blown to pieces. Updated: April 17, 2014 12:52 am AUGUSTA, Maine — Police are investigating after an officer shot and killed a man and killed another man in the streets of downtown Augusta on Thursday evening.. An employee of the apartment building where the woman lived said she heard the gunshots but only briefly. Other employees and neighbors said the man was "biting up blood" when he opened fire. The employee did not know whether the woman was the man who had been shot; the police were investigating her injuries, police spokesman Bill Hickey said.. An Augusta Police Department spokesman said on Thursday morning The Book of Energy, Volume 9: The Fundamental Laws of Thermodynamics, by C.S. Lewis.. About 1:45 p.m., Augusta Police said a man and a woman were arguing on a sidewalk after they refused to have an altercation inside downtown Augusta, near Newburyfield Street and the river. The couple pulled into the street and got into fights. The man got out of his truck and started shooting. He pulled his service weapon out with what appeared to be a semi-automatic pistol, officers said. The man was shot in the stomach and killed. The woman was shot in the body and survived.. Dreyer.
